TRINITY COLLEGE, HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

DECEMBER, 1973

NOW YOU SEE 'EM, NOW YOU DON'T — Lights on Downes Memorial Clock Tower go out in energy-saving effort. While these lights don't actually use that much power, they symbolize a greater effort campus-wide. Photos were taken just before offices closed for the day.

Trinity Cuts Back on Power Use

The familiar lights on the Downes Memorial Clock Tower are out. The heat is turned down in offices, classrooms, dormitories and the athletic center. All over campus, lights are being shut off or dimmed as Trinity feels the effects of the national shortage of energy.

Although some other colleges in Connecticut and New England have already moved to change their academic calendars, Trinity hopes to be able to keep to the established calendar unless this becomes impossible.

However, to save fuel, the College is keeping dormitories closed for a longer period during the Winter vacation. Dormitories will be closed from Dec. 22 through January 11, and during that time all appliances will be unplugged, and the temperature turned down to 55 degrees. The Trinity term will begin Jan. 16, on schedule.

Lighting is being reduced wherever possible, providing it does not compromise security needs or the safety of students and personnel. Dorm and office temperatures are now normally at 68 degrees, and the Athletic Center is at 55 degrees.

A special committee on the energy situation has been meeting frequently since late November and will advise the College on additional ways to save energy. In addition, a special bulletin board in Mather Campus Center is being devoted to energy matters.

In a memo Nov. 30 to everyone in the College community, President Lockwood said the College's decisions regarding the energy situation would be made with two considerations: "to conserve energy while preserving as much as possible the continuity of Trinity's calendar."

Adjustments in the calendar, he said, will be made "only when sufficient information makes it clear that they can and should be made. If such adjustments become necessary, they will be made, as much as possible, in the manner least disruptive to all members of the community."

If adjustments need to be made, the College hopes to provide enough notice so that students can adjust their plans accordingly.

Dr. Lockwood also outlined steps

Independent Study Wins Good Mark In Survey

The chance for Trinity students to study by themselves for credit apparently has widespread support among the student body and recent alumni, although students worry about the cost of the program and alumni are concerned about possible abuses.

Reaction to Trinity's independent study programs was reported by an ad hoc faculty committee assigned to evaluate the success of the various forms of independent study which were introduced in the 1969 curriculum revision and in succeeding years. The committee's report was based on replies to a questionnaire sent to 1,599 students and 494 alumni last spring.

The poll included members of the classes of 1973, '74, '75 and '76, and alumni from the classes of 1970, '71 and '72. Replies came from 767 students and from 211 alumni.

Students and alumni were asked a variety of questions about independent study, to determine their beliefs about the programs — whether they had participated or not — and to evaluate the experiences of those who had participated. The committee's report, which will be based on the results of this survey as well as a survey of faculty and interviews with administrators and others, will include recommendations which will strengthen the program.

Campaign Off To Good Start

The 1973-74 annual giving campaign "is off to an auspicious start," according to Judson M. Rees, director of development, with $130,848 in gifts and pledges received by December 4.

So far, 787 donors have contributed, compared with only 349 donors in the same period last year. Contributions this year are $24,627 above the $106,221 reported last year.

Goal of this year's campaign is $505,000, just higher than the amount received last year, when annual giving broke the half-million-dollar mark.

A glance at this year's figures shows: Alumni Fund, 594 contributors, $72,278; Parents Fund, 139 contributors, $27,075; Friends Fund, 8 contributors, $6,204; and Business and Industry, 46 contributors, $25,290.

"This campaign will help Trinity towards fulfilling President Lockwood's 'Core of Conviction,' towards becoming the pace-setter among small colleges in stressing human values to its students. In that effort we hope everyone will give a bit more of himself," Rees said.

STUDENTS ENDOW THEIR OWN SCHOLARSHIP

Trinity has received a most unusual gift from its students — cash. More than $47,000 contributed by recent classes has been turned over to the College, earmarked for scholarship endowment.

The fund, which will be added to for at least another year, will grow to over $60,000 by 1975, and is expected to total $100,000 by July 1, 1979.

The endowment, to be called the "Trinity College Student Body Scholarship Fund," was contributed by students over the past five years through the Student Activities Fee. Since 1968, when the student body first voted to start the fund, $15,000 a year has been taken from the money collected through the Student Activities Fees and given over to the scholarship fund.

The Student Activities Fee, collected by the College at the direction of the Student Executive Committee, is mainly used to fund extracurricular organizations and activities. The fee this year is $67 per student, and the total student activities budget is $108,000.

Of the scholarship money contributed thus far, more than $36,000 remained unspent when the students, in a referendum last spring, voted to continue making the $15,000 contributions for two more years. As a result of that referendum, $11,000 will be added to the endowment base each year, and $4,000 used for current scholarship.

CAMPUS NOTES

Dr. RANBIR VOHRA, associate professor of political science and chairman of the department, will be visiting professor at Amherst next semester. He will teach a course on East Asia.

Dr. DORIS KATZ, assistant professor of modern languages, will be represented in the forthcoming edition of the Buffalo Review by four poems in translation from the French of Franck Venaille.

Three faculty members have been promoted to the rank of assistant professor upon completion of requirements for the Ph.D.: Dr. NOREEN DULZ of the sociology department, Dr. ANDREA BIANCHINI of the modern languages department and Dr. SONIA LEE, also of modern languages.

For the first time since the inception of the theatre arts department, a student was the director of a major production. Tennessee Williams' "Night of the Iguana," directed by LEN COWAN '74, was presented Dec. 6-9 in the Goodwin Theatre. Cowan, a senior from Worcester, Mass. has acted in numerous previous productions and has also directed several shorter plays. He is a double major in theatre arts and psychology.

Dr. MICHAEL PRETINA, assistant professor of modern languages, will visit the Institute for European Studies (IES) Centers in Paris and Nantes from Dec. 17-20. Trinity is officially affiliated with the Institute.

The October 21 issue of the New York Times reported that Dr. RICHARD MORRIS, professor of education and anthropology, received a certificate of appreciation from the Humane Society of the United States "for his campaign to teach respect for all forms of life." Dr. Morris is a Director of the Connecticut Branch of the Humane Society of the United States, and has edited a book entitled "Of Man, Animals and Morals" for the national Humane Society in Washington.

GEORGE CHAPLIN, associate professor of studio arts, and ROBERT A. CALE, artist-in-residence for 1973-74, are exhibiting their works in the office of Lt. Governor Peter

L. Cashman. Chaplin is represented by paintings he calls "abstract landscapes," and Cale is displaying his work in graphics, including silk screens and nature prints.

PETER J. KNAPP '65, reference librarian at the Trinity Library, has become a member of the Board of Directors of the Capitol Region Library Council and of the Grolier Club in New York City, a book-collecting fraternity. A DIRECTORY OF SELECTED REFERENCE MATERIALS IN LIBRARIES WITHIN THE CAPITOL REGION was recently published under his supervision, and several of his reviews of naval and maritime historical literature have appeared in CHOICE, a magazine published by the Association of College and Research Libraries.

A bibliography of the Robert Frost collection in the Watkinson and Trinity Libraries is being compiled by Mrs. MARIAN CLARKE, Curator of the Watkinson Library. It will be published late next winter, on the occasion of Frost's Centennial (he was born on March 26, 1874).

Dr. GEORGE C. HIGGINS, JR., professor of psychology and college counselor, was elected secretary of the Connecticut Psychological Association. He is also director of a pilot program, Sex Education and Counseling, which is sponsored by Trinity and family planning agencies of Greater Hartford. Drs. RANDOLPH M. LEE and MICHELE TOOMEY, both assistant professors of psychology, are assisting Dr. Higgins in the program.

Dr. JOSEPH D. BRONZINO, associate professor of engineering and director of biomedical engineering, has been elected to the executive committee of the Biomedical Engineering Division of the American Society for Engineering Education and as Northeast Regional Chairman of the Institute of Electrical Engineering Group of Engineers in Medicine and Biology. He also presented two papers at the 26th Annual Conference of Engineers in Medicine and Biology, which was held in Minneapolis the first week in October.

"Bellah's Belieffless Religion; and the Objectivity of God and Moral Values" was the title of a joint paper by Drs. FRANK KIRKPATRICK, assistant professor of religion, and SUSAN F. POMERANTZ, instructor of religion, which was presented at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Religion in Chicago in November. They also lectured at the Kingswood-Oxford Schools in West Hartford on "What has happened to values today?"

At the end of the 1974-75 academic year, the fund will total more than $60,000, and students will again vote whether to continue. Another vote will be taken at the end of the 1976-77 academic year. If the contributions are continued until 1979, the endowment fund will total more than $100,000. After that point, contributions from the Student Activities Fee will be discontinued and the scholarships paid for through the interest on the endowment.

The money was formally accepted by the College on Nov. 19. President Lockwood said the endowment "is a most suitable gift for students to make to their College. Actually, it is a gift to their classmates, at a time when many are finding it harder and harder to meet the high cost of a college education. By making this financial aid possible, our students are helping the College in its effort to admit students from a variety of backgrounds, an effort which we believe contributes to the education of all. I am very proud of this generous and unusual gift, because I know of no other college students who have raised so much for this purpose."

Lockwoods Attend Sesquicentennial Of Va. Seminary

President and Mrs. Lockwood represented Trinity at the celebration of the 150th Anniversary of Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria. They were present at the Episcopal seminary's All Saints' Day service and annual Congressional Dinner Nov. 1, which were combined with the anniversary celebration. Trinity was the only institution invited to the event.

President Lockwood extended greetings from the College, observing that Trinity, also 150 years old this year, had a long historical association with the Episcopal Church.

At the All Saints' Day service, the sermon was given by The Rt. Rev. Robert F. Gibson Jr. '28, bishop of the Diocese of Virginia. Also present was his successor as bishop, The Rt. Rev. Robert B. Hall '43, who was president Lockwood's roommate for a year at Trinity.

EDITORIALS PRAISE TRINITY

Trinity's Office of Community Affairs received an editorial "bouquet" from The Hartford Times Oct. 26 for its initiative in arranging an educational forum where new patterns of learning in Hartford's schools were discussed. As part of the program, citizens were permitted to visit some of the alternative learning programs run by the city. The Times editorial said, in part:

"A bouquet to Trinity College for arranging a program for Hartford citizens -- and interested citizens from surrounding towns -- to visit some of the 15 'alternative education' programs being run by city schools.

"Trinity's Office of Community Affairs has for several years served as convener for a series of community forums on education and other questions of citizen concern; they have added depth to citizen involvement on public issues."

The forum, held Nov. 29, was attended by about 100 people. The main speaker was Dr. Harvey Scribner, former chancellor of public schools in New York City, who stressed the need for parental involvement in public education and the need for choices in the kinds of education offered.

President Lockwood's Annual Report also won editorial comment from the Hartford Courant on Oct. 27. After reviewing several of the points which Dr. Lockwood made in his report, the Courant said:

"Surely all those who dwell in the ivory towers of academe must, like Dr. Lockwood, come down to earth and face fiscal facts while admitting the battle ahead is very real. For if this state and nation are to continue to benefit from the special atmosphere, both physical and mental, of the independent college, it will require everyone's help."

Newcomen Society Honors Trinity, Hears of History

Trinity was honored by the Newcomen Society in North America, an organization interested in the history of various institutions, at a black tie dinner Dec. 5, at the Hilton.

President Lockwood, representing Trinity, gave a speech to the society, outlining the history of the College.

In his speech, President Lockwood related the 150-year history of the school to its present goal of emphasizing values as the core of liberal learning.

It is necessary, he said, "to define the educated man in both profound and practical terms. Understandably, in a world of cost-benefit analysis, we tend to measure the worth of an education by the practical knowledge it conveys. We prize the accountant who knows his math; the musician who plays flawlessly; the chemist who develops a method for extracting geothermal energy. At the same time, as we sit more often in front of the fireplace, we should recognize that we need those whose knowledge is less directly applicable: those liberal arts graduates who recall the use of the chorus in Greek drama or that Buddha made friends with snails -- and, more importantly, know why. For while we look to the contributions which the practical side of education can make, we retain, I hope, a realization that wisdom and understanding are essential to the solution of tomorrow's issues."

The present times, he said, demand "that the educated person be sensitive to the values which inform our approach to the issues before our world, and that that same person come to grips with how he or she intends to respond. For the quality of life we as individuals lead will depend upon those judgments which, in turn, should be influenced by the knowledge we have at our command. That is why the question of values is germane to our entire academic effort."

The address will be published and distributed by the Newcomen Society.

At the dinner, President Lockwood was introduced by Trinity Trustee Ostrom Enders, retired chairman of the board of the Hartford National Bank, and a member of Newcomen.

The Newcomen Society in North America, founded in 1923, is a non-profit organization interested in the growth and contributions of industry, transportation, communication, utilities, mining, agriculture, banking, finance, economics, insurance, education and invention, with a view to studying the progress of civilization.

Meetings are held throughout the United States and across Canada at which Newcomen addresses are presented by leaders in their respective fields.

The society perpetuates the name of Thomas Newcomen (1663-1729), the British pioneer who contributed to the improvement of the steam engine. The North American society is affiliated with The Newcomen Society for the Study of the History of Engineering and Technology, and the Royal Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures and Commerce, both in London.

Reunion-Homecoming Brings Many Back

It was billed as a "Getaway Weekend," and it brought close to 1,000 alumni and guests to Trinity for the annual Reunion/Homecoming Nov. 16-18. The three-day get-together included athletic and social activities, and the awarding of prizes to alumni and to active classes.

Possibly the highlight of the weekend was Trinity's 33-16 victory over Wesleyan on Saturday. More than 6,000 people jammed Jesse Field to watch the contest between the teams who've been arch rivals since 1885.

Saturday night, more than 400 alumni and guests went to dinner at the Hilton downtown, where Ray A. Montgomery '25 was awarded the Eigenbrodt Cup Award, Alfred N. Guertin '22 received the Alumni Medal for Excellence, and Jon A. Reynolds '59 received the Alumni Achievement Award.

Montgomery was cited for the loyalty he has shown to Trinity over the years, his interest in Trinity sports, and his creative contributions to the College, most recent being his single-handed job of painting the stone shields on Downes Memorial Clock Tower.

Guertin, retired actuary of the American Life Convention, has remained active in his field, serving as a consultant to major life insurance companies. He was president of the Illinois Scholarships program for 15 years, and has continued to serve the fund as honorary chairman.

Reynolds, who joined the Air Force after graduation, was shot down over North Vietnam in November of 1965, and was a prisoner of war for seven years and 73 days before he was released this past February. He has now requalified as a pilot, and is studying for an eventual teaching position in military air history at the Air Force Academy in Denver.

Alumni Association prizes were also awarded Saturday, at the alumni luncheon in the Field House, prior to the Wesleyan game.

Allen Goodale '05 of West Hartford was, for the third year in a row, the oldest alumnus returning. Edward T. Faber '48 of Mill Valley, Calif., was the alumnus who came the farthest.

The Jerome Kohn Award, to the class with the largest percentage of returning alumni, went to the Class of 1923, and was received by Ike Newell. The George C. Capen Trophy, to the area alumni association which has the best participation in alumni affairs, went to the Hartford association, and was received by Don Viering '42. The 1916 Alumni Fund Trophy was awarded to the Class of 1964 for the second year in a row, and was received by Kiau Loi. The 1934 Alumni Fund Trophy was awarded to the Class of 1955, and received by Lee Lahey. The Board of Fellows Bowl, presented to the reunion class which exhibits the greatest spirit, went to the Class of 1963, and was received by James Tozer and Victor Keen.

Officers of the alumni association for the coming year are: John T. Wilcox '39, president; David R. Smith '52, senior vice president; Martin D. Wood '42, alumni fund v.p.; George P. Lynch Jr. '61, campus activities v.p.; Joseph A. Hourihan '66, admissions v.p.; Charles I. Tenney '49, area associations v.p.; Thomas M. Boyd '62, secretary, and John T. Fink '44, treasurer.

Elected for a term of two years are Germain D. Newton '58; Gerald A. Vastano '69, David W. Chase '60, and

Dwight Oarr '57, professor of music and chairman of the department of music at Wells College, Aurora, N.Y., gave an organ recital in the Chapel Friday evening. The Rt. Rev. Conrad Gesner '23, retired bishop of South Dakota, preached at the Eucharist Sunday morning in the Chapel.

Donahue '75 glide to the rhythms of a kazoo band, comprised of Trinity students, which provided the half-time entertainment at the Trinity-Wesleyan football game. The kazoo band brought about 200 Trinity students out onto the football field shouting and stomping to the astonishment and delight of spectators.

AWARD TO DUCKETT — Acting Athletics Director Norman T. Graf presents Ronald Duckett with an award for Excellence in Athletics and Contributions to Trinity Athletics.

Duckett Holds II Records, Gets Special Award

Tri-captain split end Ron Duckett has closed his Trinity College football career holding seven individual Trinity reception records and four New England records. Against Wesleyan, Duckett broke season records for both yardage receiving and receptions. In his last season he caught 57 passes for 834 yards and 7 TD's.

The Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference named him to their weekly Honor Roll four times this season. He was also named to the ECAC All East First Team.

In the United Press International sportswriters poll he was elected to the All-New England College Division First Team as a wide receiver.

The Athletic Advisory Council at Trinity, made up of alumni, faculty and administrators of the college, presented a special award to Duckett for his "Excellence in Athletics and Contributions to Trinity Athletics."

Acting Athletics Director Norman T. Graf presented the award.

In addition Duckett received Honorable Mention on The Associated Press Small College All-American football team. The team was selected by a poll of the nation's sportswriters.

On December 9 Duckett was named to the New England Small College All-Star Team in a poll of football coaches among area colleges.

Duckett hails from Philadelphia, is a graduate of the Overbrook High School and a history major at the College.

TRINITY SPORTS

How The Teams Did

in a hard-fought defensive battle.

Sophomore co-captain Anne Jones scored in the first five minutes of the game on a shot from left corner. Yale could not break the Bantam defense until the last 30 seconds of the contest.

With three-quarters of the squad composed of freshmen and sophomores and only one player graduating, next season should be brighter for Trinity.

Coach Shults' squad opened the season with a tie at M.I.T. They then defeated Springfield 5-2, Central Connecticut 5-2, Coast Guard 5-0, Manchester Community College 2-0, and Connecticut College 3-2. Trinity lost to Little Three revals Williams 6-1, Wesleyan 5-1, and Amherst 2-0.

Alexander Harvey was the top scorer for Trinity with 13 goals. He now holds the Trinity freshman record for goals in a season. Duffy Shea was second highest with 5 goals and 3 assists.

The Trinity freshman football team finished its season with a disappointing loss to the Amherst freshmen 30-12, stopping Coach McPhee's win streak with the frosh at 18.

The Little Lord Jeffs capitalized on Bantam mistakes as the Amherst secondary picked up five interceptions for the day, four in the second half. These turnovers hurt Trinity, preventing them from coming back in the second half as they tried to play catch-up football.

This year the Baby Bants had a fine season, and will send some excellent men on to the varsity. Fullback Patrick Heffernan, co-captain of the team, set three Trinity freshman records. Heffernan has the most carries in a game with 32, in a season with 141, and the most yardage in a season with 550 yards.

Hockey at 4-2
The Trinity Hockey Team has a record of 4-2 at the vacation break. The Ice Bants lost their opener to the University of Connecticut 6-1, then in turn beat M.I.T. 7-2, Nichols 7-6 (in overtime) and Worcester State 6-4, before losing to New Haven 6-4. In the final game of the pre-holiday season Trinity defeated Springfield College 8-2.

Captain Jono Frank is leading the Bantams with nine goals and five assists. He has tallied two hat tricks (three goals in one game) this season, one against Worcester State and the other versus Springfield College.

The Bantams reopen this season on January 11 with the Wesleyan Invitational Tournament. The University of Connecticut and the University of New Haven round out the field. Trinity will open the tournament versus New Haven at 6 p.m. Jan. 11. Tickets are available through either the Trinity or Wesleyan Athletic Departments.

After the tournament they have twelve games to complete this season. An informal sport at Trinity and a club team, the Bants play fifteen Division II varsity teams.

Included in the committee's survey were tutorial types of independent study, the open semester, and the Intensive Study Program.

Responses from students included phrases such as "extremely important," "valuable," "almost a necessity for a well-rounded B.A. degree," and "a great program." Several suggested that the offerings be improved and expanded, and others said that independent study brightened their outlook and approach to regular classroom work.

One student said, "In my own opinion, Independent Study and the Open Semester have a great deal to offer a student whose college background consists of a lot of theory but no or little practical application."

Still another wrote that independent studies "opened possibilities denied in a highly-regimented public school. Through these experiences I have been able to appreciate sitting in the classroom atmosphere of regular courses."

There was some criticism of the freedom with which students choose their own kind of study. "By making any personal interest creditable toward a college education," one student replied, "I feel the student runs the risk of becoming too comfortable in a college atmosphere where all pursuits and undertakings are given immediate reward by grade or credit."

Students also seemed to feel that the programs do not justify the tuition cost. "Last semester I used no Trinity facility so I feel full tuition isn't necessary," one student said. A few charged the program made it easy for people who could afford it, to get credits.

Alumni responded with high praise of their experiences, to the point of saying independent study was the highlight of their college careers. As one alumnus wrote, "Independent study was the best part of Trinity — to me the point of college is to learn to educate oneself — this the various independent study programs help do. It is the capability to educate myself that means more to me now than any other academic experience at Trinity."

Several were concerned that the program might fail, as one student put it, to "maintain rigid guidelines and standards."

Another said: "Independent studies, tutorials, etc., are good if there is structure and direction...The experience is a privilege and can be extremely rewarding — it should not be misused."

Another graduate who believed that he or she "got away with murder from an academic viewpoint," suggested that

"open semester proposals should be more closely screened and supervised."

Students seemed to feel that the primary motivation for taking independent study is that "the subject matter is not available in a regular course." Many students and alumni who had taken an Open Semester said they did so because "they had an off-campus opportunity they did not want to pass up."

Students also indicated that they expected fairly close contact with their instructor — meetings occurring once a week or so, and essential to the course — but they believed that there was actually less contact than that.

The survey on independent study also considered faculty reaction to the program as it has developed over the past few years, and is considering administrative problems of the program as well, including a system of faculty compensation. Recommendations about the various aspects of the program are expected early in 1974.

which the campus can take to conserve energy, such as eliminating wasteful uses of electricity, cutting down on the use of appliances, keeping doors and windows closed, forming car pools, and reporting situations in which power and heat can be saved.

In another memo to students, Del A. Shilkret, dean for student services, asked students to disconnect all appliances for the holiday period, being careful to defrost and clean refrigerators, to take unnecessary appliances home "for good," to take pets and plants home, and to make adequate plans for transportation, considering that public transportation may be both crowded and curtailed, and that gasoline will be in short supply, especially on weekends.

Shilkret said that all residence halls — Allen East and Allen West, High Rise, 90-92 Vernon, North Campus, Jarvis, Seabury, Northam, Cook, Woodward, Goodwin, Jones, Elton, South Campus, 121 Allen Place, 194, 216 and 210 New Britain Avenue — will be closed from Dec. 22 through Jan. 15, and no one will be permitted to enter or remain in these buildings for any reason during the shutdown.

BLOOD DONORS — Student volunteer Karen Magnuson '77 helps patch up Neil Kobrosky '76 after he has given blood during the Red Cross Bloodmobile's December 3 visit to Trinity. Students, faculty and administrators contributed 205 pints of blood. There were 241 donors, with 121 of them giving blood for the first time. Last March, 217 donors contributed 179 pints of blood.

NEW CHAPEL SCREEN -- The new wrought iron screen installed in the Chapel forms an entrance to the Friendship Chapel. The screen, donated by former Trinity president G. Keith Funston in memory of his mother, Genevieve Keith Funston, was dedicated November 4.

WHEN IN ROME.....Robert W. Starkey, senior from West Hartford, who attended the Trinity/Rome Campus summer session, strikes a classic pose on pedestal in the Roman Forum.,Enjoying his antics is Constance K. Doyle, a senior, from Garrison, N.Y. The Temple of Antonius and Faustina is in the background. The Rome Campus is situated on the Aventine, one of the original seven hills of Rome, overlooking the Tiber. The summer sessions were instituted four years ago and their success resulted in the inauguration of a Fall and Spring program two years ago.

3 Join Board

Three alumni have been elected to three-year terms on the Board of Fellows, including the first woman to serve on the board. The three are: Dr. Irving H. Goldberg '49, Siegbert Kaufman '46, and Christine M. Siegrist '72.

Dr. Goldberg, a Senior Fellow elected by the Board of Trustees, is Gustavus Adolphus Pfeiffer professor of pharmacology in the faculty of medicine at Harvard University. A former Guggenheim fellow, he received an M.D. from Yale University in 1953, and a Ph.D. from the Rockefeller University in 1960. He has studied at Oxford University, and is an authority on the molecular mechanisms of agents affecting nucleic acid and protein synthesis and function. He lives in Brookline, Mass.

Kaufman, a Junior Fellow elected by the Alumni Association, received a B.A. from Trinity in 1946 and an M.A. in government from Trinity in 1966. He is an administrative assistant for the Connecticut Judicial Department, and has been active as an alumnus. He was president of the New Britain alumni association, and is presently on the board of the Hartford association. He has also served on the executive committee of the national alumni association. He lives in South Glastonbury.

Miss Siegrist, also a Junior Fellow, is now in her second year at the University of Connecticut School of Law. She was winner of the Samuel H. Fishzohn Award for Civil Rights and Liberties in 1972, of the award given by the Greater Hartford Branch of the American Association of University Women, and is a member of Pi Gamma Mu. She lives in New Britain.

Bants Beat Army, Navy

The squash team is undefeated with a record of (3-0), having defeated M.I.T. 7-2, Navy 5-4, and Army 8-1.

The victories over West Point and Annapolis are the first in the history of squash on the hill. The cadets and the middies, always Trin's toughest opponents, were both ranked in the top five nationally last year.

The Bantams' young squad, with 6 members of last year's (13-1) frosh team starting, should be very strong when they reopen the season January 24.

02 Mr. Frederick C. Hinkel, Jr. 63 Church Avenue Islip, Long Island 11751

The Rt. Rev. Robert B. Gooden, retired Suffragan Bishop of Los Angeles, addressed the House of Bishops at the recent General Convention of the Episcopal Church in Louisville, Ky.

The Bishop, who was consecrated in 1930, concluded his remarks by saying: "The time of my departure is at hand, but I am glad I have kept the faith." He received a standing ovation.

26 Mr. N. Ross Parke 18 Van Buren Avenue West Hartford, CT 06107

Good for HOWARD and Doris TULE who, this summer, had a fine trip motoring to visit with their son, Terry, and daughter-in-law in Texas, and visiting relatives in Williamsport, Penna., home of the Little League, on their way back to Hartford.

We're all deeply grateful to learn that our good MacBURNEY'S health is improving. We hope and pray the same for our good PETIE HOUGH.

NORM and Jean PITCHER spoke of a trip to Long Boat Key, 100 miles north on Florida's West Coast in September; good for them. 1926 friends join with Norm in gratitude as we learn his good wife, Jean, is making good progress.

We of '26 express our deepest sympathy and prayerful love to our good KEN STUER and his loved ones at the great loss he has just suffered in the death of his dear wife, Helen. All of us privileged to know Helen at our reunions, will feel keenly this loss of one as dedicated as her husband, to good old Trinity College, through the Class of Twenty-Six.

We of '26 join with all Trinitarians in the loss we have just suffered in the passing of Glover Johnson.

Phyllis and I returned to 564 West Avon Road, Avon, Conn. 06001 in late October after a fine stay in West Chatham, Cape Cod, Mass. It was a pleasure to welcome the JOHN KELLYS there early in September.

We hear that HAROLD BAYLEY retired from Wedgewood last June and now enjoys golf and leaf-raking. His daughter, Christine, is at Principia College in St. Louis while son, Mark, is with Certainty Corp., Valley Forge, Pa.

Other retirees are COATES COIT from Aetna Insurance Co.; GRAHAM DAY from the FBI; BILL HENEGRY from James Memorial High School, Simsbury, Conn.; and WARREN REUBER from Conn. Mutual Life Ins. Co. Welcome to the Club.

It was a pleasure to see DR. CHARLIE TUCKER receive an award for distinguished service at the Trinity Club of Hartford's annual dinner October 11. ISAAC ZLOCHIVER, now retired from the State Labor Department, was an interested spectator that evening.

ANDY ONDERDONK is far from retired and deserves our thanks for guiding 1934 to second position among the classes 50 years out in the final standings of the 1972-1973 Trinity Alumni Fund.

ADE ONDERDONK has resumed teaching in the Alexandria, Va. area.

As of September 1, CHUCK KINGSTON became president for the Association for Advanced Life Underwriters (AALU). Congratulations, Chuck.

SEYMOUR SMITH'S son, Seymour M., has been promoted from assistant vice president to vice president at Connecticut Bank and Trust, Hartford. He has charge of business development in the bank's International Department.

Dr. RICHARD P. WELCHER, a senior research chemist at the Stamford Laboratories of the American Cyanamid Company, has been appointed an instructor of mathematics at the Bridgeport Engineering Institute's Stamford division. Dick had previously taught at M.I.T., where he received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry and the degree of doctor of philosophy, subsequent to his graduation from Trinity. He has also taken graduate courses in the University of Bridgeport's College of Education. He has been active in scouting, having served from 1970 to 1972 as a member of the Greenwich Council, Boys Scouts of America, in charge of training events for adult leaders and for boys.

While working through the Sunday New York Times, an occupation which consumes a large portion of my weekends, I came across an article on the problems generated by Cape Cod's rapid growth. Its author, ERNEST DICKINSON, was described as a former newspaperman in New York and Connecticut, who is now doing freelance writing. This sounds like our classmate, who began his career in journalism with the Hartford Courant and was more recently heard from as editor of the Patent Trader, in Mt. Kisco, New York. If Dick's life has taken a new turn, I hope he will furnish us with details.

According to a memorandum sent me by PETER ADAMS, KIM FENNEBRESQUE'S announcement of marriage to Princess Marianne of Muldovia is incorrect. It seems that Peter and the Princess were happily married in 1971, and proof of the royal event can be found in the Dobrija Daily of that year. Since that time, the Crown Prince Ethelbert has been born and another child is expected. This reporter fears that Mr. Fennebresque's wife-to-be is an imposter, and I send my condolences. Be that as it may, J. R. R. Tolkein is dead and Peter Adams can have Muldavia and his Royal Family.

I know how curious everyone must be about what the guy behind the pen is up to (?) so I'm going to force it upon you. I spent the summer doing a clinical clerkship in haematology at University College Hospital in London and returned to my second year of classes at Tulane Univ. Medical School in September. Any and all visitors to New Orleans are welcome to try and find me.

PHI ON RELIGION? HEAVENS, NO! the punsters said when they heard the Department of Religion was taking over the former Delta Phi (IKA) house at 70 Vernon St. The department, along with the Individualized Degree Program and the Intercultural Studies Program, opened up the new offices, classroom and lounge space this fall with a series of receptions announcing "the navel of the earth has moved." The number of people who've wandered down recently proves, they say, that their observation was "right on the button." This photo of department faculty, majors, and guests was taken after one of the "fraternal" gatherings.

Blanchard Means, Professor Emeritus, Dies; Taught Philosophy Here 40 Years

Dr. Blanchard W. Means, 68, Brownell Professor of Philosophy Emeritus and former chairman of the department, died Wednesday, November 7, 1973 in Ware, Mass. He had been a member of the Trinity faculty for 40 years when he retired last year.

A memorial service was held in the College Chapel on November 27. In a statement about Dr. Means, President Lockwood said: "For those who studied and worked with him, it was indeed a privilege to know this humanitarian. For the College, there have been few who questioned so persistently and who gave so freely of their time as Blanchard Means. One of his favorite philosophers, Immanuel Kant, wrote in the PROLOGEMENA 'Experience can never teach us the nature of things in themselves.' To build upon that observation in a manner Blanchard might not have permitted, one can only say that, if such be true, then it requires the great teacher to illuminate that experience and come to an understanding of the nature of reality. Blanchard Means had that facility."

Dr. Means leaves his wife, Mrs. Louise Rich Means, and a daughter, Louise B. Means.

Scholar and author of numerous philosophical books, Dr. Means was also owner of the 200-year old Elm Hill Farms in Brookfield, Mass., where he raised Morgan horses and purebred cattle. He had hundreds of apple trees dotting the 1,278-acre estate. Among the cows raised at Elm Hill was "Elsie," the Borden cow of television and magazine fame. He was also an accomplished amateur musician and lover of poetry.

Dr. Means was born in Brookfield, and attended Kingswood School in West Hartford. He received a B.A. from Yale in 1927, a Ph.D. in 1932 and he did graduate work at Harvard.

He joined the Trinity faculty in 1932 as an instructor and was promoted to assistant professor in 1936, associate in 1949 and Brownell professor of philosophy and chairman of the department in 1956. He was a visiting fellow and lecturer in philosophy at Yale in 1946-47 while on leave from Trinity.

Dr. Means was elected to the University of Hartford Board of Regents in 1965. He was a past secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Julius Hartt Musical Foundation, a member of the Founders of Hartford, the Hartford chapter of the Archaeological Institute of America of which he was vice president in 1938 and 1939 and a member of the Society of Colonial Wars.

He was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Cum Laude Society, the American Philosophical Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Yale Club of New York City, the University Club of Hartford and the Asylum Congregational Church in Hartford.

Services were held Nov. 10 in Brookfield Congregational Church. Burial was in Brookfield Cemetery.

Memorial gifts may be sent to the College.

BISHOP GRAY DIES

The Rt. Rev. Walter H. Gray, bishop emeritus of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut and a trustee of Trinity from 1951 until his retirement last May, died Dec. 4. Funeral was Dec. 7 at Christ Church Cathedral, Hartford. A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of The Reporter.

IN MEMORY

HELEN CHILDS BOYDEN, HON. 1952

Mrs. Helen C. Boyden, headmistress of Deerfield Academy, Deerfield, Massachusetts from 1907 to 1968, died in that town October 18, 1973. She was 90 years old, and is survived by two sons, John and Theodore, and a daughter, Elizabeth.

Mrs. Boyden was born in Deerfield and graduated from Smith College in 1904. For a short while she taught science in Stamford, Connecticut, and in 1905 applied for a position at Deerfield Academy which had been founded three years earlier by Frank L. Boyden. It was said he was not at all enthusiastic about the youthful applicant because of her lack of experience as a teacher. He did hire Miss Childs on a temporary basis, and they were married two years later.

Over the years Mrs. Boyden guided hundreds of boys through the difficulties of mathematics and chemistry. She gave confidence to the slower students and prodded the able ones to do better. Each class was an exciting, dramatic session.

In 1952 Trinity College awarded her the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

A gracious hostess and a "mother" to many of the students, her husband once said, "She is much more important than I am. She has a wonderful sense of humor and a deep affection for the boys. She has more influence on them than I have for she makes them want to do the work. Her judgment is excellent. She could have been the head of any school."

JULIUS GOEBEL, JR. HON. 1954

Dr. Julius Goebel, Jr., distinguished legal historian and professor emeritus of legal history at the Columbia University School of Law, died August 4, 1973 in New York City. He leaves his wife, the former Dorothy Bourne; a brother Dr. Walther Goebel; and two sisters, Mrs. Kate Thornhill and Mrs. Paul Greeley.

Dr. Goebel was born December 3, 1892 in Menlo Park, California, a son of the late Julius Goebel and Kathryn Vreeland. His father was a distinguished philologist who taught at Stanford, Harvard and the University of Illinois.

After graduating from the University of Illinois in 1912, Dr. Goebel received his doctorate from Columbia University in 1915 and the LL.B. from Columbia in 1923. He taught at the law school from 1925 until 1961 when he retired with the title of George Welwood Murray Professor of Legal History.

For many years he was director of the Foundation for Research in Legal History and wrote many books in the field.

Trinity College awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws in 1954.

DONALD ELY LAUDERBURN, 1906

Donald E. Lauderburn who for many years was a self-employed forester, died October 16, 1973 in Hattiesburg, Mississippi. He leaves his wife, Pearl R. Lauderburn. His first wife, Daisy S. Schlemm, died in 1955.

Born March 14, 1884, in Hazleton, Pennsylvania, a son of Frederick Lauderburn and Ann Delia Bradley Ely, Mr. Lauderburn prepared for college at Wellesley High School, Wellesley, Massachusetts, and entered Trinity in 1902 with the Class of 1906. As an undergraduate, he played on the football team and received the Alumni English prize. His fraternity was Alpha Delta Phi.

Mr. Lauderburn received the Bachelor of Forestry degree from Biltmore Forest School, Biltmore, North Carolina in 1907 and spent many years supervising logging properties as well as the seeding and planting of forests. He worked for the State of Mississippi and for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. He wrote many articles on forestry in professional journals.

ELMER HILTON CHASE, 1908

Word has reached the college of the death of Elmer H. Chase, September 9, 1973 in Titusville, Florida. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence Reed Chase.

Born July 20, 1885 in Boston, Massachusetts, a son of Horace Francis and Vinetta Chase, Mr. Chase prepared for college at the Cheshire School, Cheshire, Connecticut. He entered Trinity in 1904 with the Class of 1908 but only remained in residence for one year. His fraternity was Psi Upsilon.

For many years Mr. Chase was vice president and treasurer of Chase & Co., New Haven, Connecticut, a men's wear store. He retired to Florida in 1956.

EDWARD UPSON COWLES, 1915

The Rev. Dr. Edward U. Cowles died October 12, 1973 in St. Croix Falls, Wisconsin. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Nina Lyman Cowles; a son, Edward L. Cowles; and a daughter, Mrs. Lita Hart Pascarella.

Born November 11, 1892 in Berlin, Connecticut, a son of Sidney M. and Alice Upson Cowles, he prepared for college at New Britain High School, New Britain, Connecticut, and entered Trinity in 1911 with the Class of 1915. As an undergraduate, he played class basketball, and was a member of the Ivy, the Glee Club and the Senate. He was a member of Sigma Psi fraternity.

After graduation he served parishes in St. Augustine, Florida; Bridgeport, Connecticut; New Haven, Connecticut; and Spencer, Massachusetts; before assuming the pastorate of the First Congregational Church, Westfield, Massachusetts in 1929.

Dr. Cowles was a graduate of the Hartford

Theological Seminary, and, in 1952, received an honorary Doctorate of Divinity from Northland College, Ashland, Wisconsin.

When he retired in 1957, Dr. Cowles served as interim minister at the First Congregational Church in Southampton, Massachusetts.

THOMAS ALOYSIUS SHANNON, JR., 1925

Thomas A. Shannon, retired officer with the Hartford Fire Insurance Co., died October 25, 1973 in West Hartford. He leaves three cousins, Mrs. Helen Belliveau, M. E. Turbert and Edward J. Turbert, Jr.

Born January 21, 1905 in Hartford a son of Thomas A. Shannon and Ann Hayes, he prepared for college at Hartford Public High School and entered Trinity in 1921 with the Class of 1925. As an undergraduate, he was a member of the Glee Club and Political Science Club. His fraternity was Delta Psi.

Mr. Shannon joined Hartford Fire in 1929 and, on his retirement, was assistant treasurer of the company.

ANGELO ANTONUCCI, 1933

Angelo Antonucci who had taught mathematics and science at the Windsor Locks, Connecticut, High School, died in that town June 30. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Grace Resony Antonucci, and three sons, John A., Paul R. and Robert R. J. Antonucci; and his brothers-in-law, John and Allie Resony '43.

Born July 28, 1903 in Popoli, Italy, a son of Giovanni and Giovina Antonucci, Mr. Antonucci prepared for college at Hartford High School and entered Trinity in 1929 with the Class of 1933. As an undergraduate, he was a member of the Athenaeum and Il Circolo Dante.

Mr. Antonucci was a member of the Connecticut Education Association and the Windsor Locks Education Association. In 1937, he received his Masters degree from Trinity.

PAUL GROEBLI, JR. 1945

Paul Groebli, Jr., a member of the faculty at Trinity School, New York City, died August 31, 1973. He taught mathematics and was assistant to the headmaster at the school since 1947.

Born December 22, 1922, in New York City, a son of Paul and Meta Virginia Groebli, he prepared for college at the Trinity School and entered the College in 1942 with the Class of 1945. As an undergraduate, he played baseball and was coach and treasurer of the Rifle Club.

In 1947 he earned his Masters degree from Trinity College.

GEORGE PHINNEY DONNELLY, 1948

The Rev. George P. Donnelly, assistant rector of St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, Maryland since 1961, died September 29, 1973 in that city. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Muriel F.

White Donnelly; a daughter, Karen L.; and two sons, Gordon and Roger.

Born May 15, 1921 in Clinton, Massachusetts, a son of George Henry and Maude Phinney Donnelly, he prepared for Trinity at the Clinton High School and entered in 1945 with the Class of 1948. He had previously studied at the New England Conservatory of Music and Becker Business College. As an undergraduate, he was a member of the Tripod, Glee Club, Choir, and Band. He was a member of the Commons Club.

After graduation, he enrolled at Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and received the Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1951. For two years, he was a curate at Christ Church, Needham, Massachusetts, and chaplain of St. Luke's Home in Boston. In 1953 he became rector of St. Barnabas' Church, Springfield, Massachusetts, and, five years later, went to St. Bartholomew's Church in Baltimore where he served for four years before going to St. Paul's.

Active in civic and church affairs, he was on the executive council of the Diocese of Maryland and Chaplain of the Order of the Daughters of the King in Maryland. He was an ecumenical member of the Catholic Family Life Bureau and chaplain of St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore. He was also on the board of the Western YMCA.

STEPHEN EUGENE MARUT, 1949

Stephen E. Marut died September 26, 1973 in Hartford. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Emily Grembski Marut, and two sisters, Miss Helen Marut and Miss Veronica Marut.

Born December 26, 1919 in Hartford, a son of Michael Marut and Stephanie Holody Marut, he prepared for college at the Hartford Public High School.

For some years he was production engineer with Niles, Bement and Pond, Hartford, and recently had been a laboratory technician at Atlantic Screw Machine Co., Newington, Conn.

During World War II he served three years in the U. S. Air Corps.

JONATHAN EDWARDS, 1962

Born January 18, 1939, a son of the late Jonathan W. Edwards, he prepared for Trinity at Phillips Andover Academy and entered in 1958 with the Class of 1962. As an undergraduate, he played varsity soccer and was a Junior Advisor.

In 1968 he received the Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Hartford Seminary Foundation and for the past five years had been working in the Seminary's library.

Trin Bows To Amherst, Beats Wes

Trinity split its last two games, losing to Amherst 40-7 and beating Wesleyan 33-16, leaving the Bantams 4-4 for the second year in a row.

Pratt Field at Amherst and the toss of the coin gave the Lord Jeffs a thirty-mile-per-hour wind to their advantage in the first quarter. Trinity was stymied as the wind ruined both Bantam kicking and passing games.

BASKETBALL 3-2

The Bantams opened the hoop season with the Trinity-University of Hartford Invitational Tournament, this year held at Hartford Nov. 30 - Dec. 1. In the tournament opener Trinity lost to tournament winner Central Connecticut 91-87. The second night in the consolation round Trinity dispatched Wesleyan 88-83. Central defeated Hartford 80-68 in the final to win the tournament laurels.

Sophomore forward Othar Burks was named to the All-Tourney Team. Burks had 15 points vs. Central and 24 vs. Wesleyan and was the major contributor to Trin's victory over the Cardinals.

December 5 Trinity defeated Amherst 88-60, totally dominating the Lord Jeffs with their defense. The offense was again sparked by Burks who had 25 points for the night. Nat Williams '74, Bo Pickard '76 and Bill Fenkel '74 each had 16 points.

Trinity trounced MIT 96-64 Dec. 8 in Cambridge. Sophomore Wayne Sokolosky paced the Bantams with 17 points. Fenkel hit for 15, Burks 14, Nat Williams 13 and Steve Williams 11 as Trinity stretched a 10 point half time margin to a 32 point win.

Undefeated Brandeis University gave Trinity its second loss, 107-79 in Waltham Dec. 11. Nat Williams had 15, Burks 16 and Jim Sumler '75, had 15 for the Bants.

Trinity faced Queens College Dec. 15.

Mike Maus, Trin's sophomore kicking specialist, had his first punt blown back for negative yardage and the next two blocked. These turnovers left Amherst inside the Trinity 10 three times in the first five minutes of the game and they scored on each opportunity.

Down 27-0 after one quarter, the Bantams played a creditable game for the remainder of the contest. Statistically the last three quarters were even, but Trinity was unable to recover from the devastating first quarter attack of the Lord Jeffs.

Bantams evened the season up by defeating arch-rival Wesleyan 33-16.

Tri-captain split end Ron Duckett sparked the win with two touchdowns and 148 yards on 7 catches in his last game for Trinity. Runningback Jim Balesano was the leading ball carrier for Trinity with 168 yards on 38 carries and one touchdown.

Mike Maus had two field goals, and three of four PAT attempts for the day. He finished the year with a punting average of 41.1 on 47 punts and was named to the ECAC All-East First Team.

Trinity dominated the first half with 134 yards total offense to 72 for Wesleyan. An interception, early in the first quarter, by Rich Tucci on his own 40 set up Trin's first score with a 46 yard return to the Wesleyan 14. Two plays later quarterback Harold Gray '75 scored from the one-yard line. The PAT attempt failed.

In the second quarter two touchdown passes to Duckett, one by Gray for 20 yards and another by George Rose '76 for 18 gave Trinity a margin Wesleyan couldn't catch up to.

The Cardinals came out strong in the third quarter and marched 80 yards in eight plays to score on a 16-yard pass from Tom Gelsomino to Charles Mitchell. Wesleyan scored again in the fourth quarter as Steve Sadowy on a halfback option pass hit Dave Terry for 22 yards. Each time the Cardinals scored 2 point conversions on a run by Sadowy and a Gelsomino-to-Mitchell pass.

The Bantams scored in the fourth quarter on a field goal by Maus and a 10 yard run by Balesano stopping any possible Cardinal comeback.

Junior safety ChrisMax was selected to the U.P.I. All-New England College Division First Team as was Duckett. Max had five interceptions for 101 return yards this season.

WIN OVER WES — Fullback Dave Kuncio No. 47 sets up to throw a block on Cardinal defender Mike Celeste No. 62 to make a hole for runningback Jim Balesano No. 22. Balesano had 168 yards and a touchdown on 38 carries against Wesleyan.

How The Teams Did

Varsity Soccer (3-7)

The varsity soccer team finished the season strong, winning three of their last five contests. The Bantams defeated Union 2-1, Coast Guard 4-1, and Wesleyan 1-0.

The closing game with Wesleyan was possibly the best effort of the year for the '73 squad. Senior Goalie William Lawson played a perfect game in the goal and the defense, led by Jesse Morgan, fought the Cardinals to a 0-0 tie until Roger McCord scored with 2 minutes left in the final period. Wesleyan had already been selected to compete in the ECAC post-season tournament and went on to the semi-finals.

Junior forward Roger McCord was selected to play in the New England Intercollegiate Soccer League's All Star game December 2. According to NESCAC rules, McCord was ineligible to play in the post-season event.

Field Hockey (4-3-4)

The women's field hockey team finished its 1973 season, tying Yale 1-1
